Resolution in Support of Lake Superior Basin and Watershed Mining Analyses

RESOLUTION NO. BDC--07-29-2014-01

- WHEREAS, the Great Lakes Indian Fish and Wildlife Commission (Commission) is an intertribal agency exercising delegated sovereign authority from 11 federally recognized Anishinaabe Tribes in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota which have retained hunting, fishing, and gathering rights in territories ceded to the United States in the Treaties of 1836, 1837, 1842, and 1854; and
- WHEREAS, the Commission's mission includes a duty to assist its member Tribes in the conservation and management of natural resources throughout the ceded territories, thereby ensuring access to the traditional pursuits of the Anishinaabeg; and
- WHEREAS, the Anishinaabe lifeway, as recognized and protected by federal courts, depends upon clean and healthy natural resources for cultural, religious, medicinal, subsistence and economic purposes; and
- WHEREAS, myriad threats to the ceded territories and the Lake Superior basin already have negatively impacted, and have the potential to further negatively impact natural resources and, as a result, tribal lifeways; and
- WHEREAS, one such threat is a plan to develop an open pit iron mine in the headwaters of the Bad River watershed, a part of the 1842 ceded territory; and
- WHEREAS, GLIFWC member Tribes have long been concerned about the additive and cumulative effects of mining and other land use changes on the quality and quantity of ceded territory natural resources.
- THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED; that the Great Lakes Indian Fish and Wildlife Commission does hereby support the recent request made by several GLIFWC member Tribes to the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to study the cumulative impacts of mineral resource development on the Lake Superior basin.
- BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, that the Great Lakes Indian Fish and Wildlife Commission supports the Tribes' request to EPA that it analyze the Bad River watershed specifically to determine whether the mine proposed there would have "unacceptable adverse effects on fisheries, wildlife, shellfish beds, municipal water supplies, or recreational areas."
